NEW YORK LIBERTY GAME NOTES

MATCHUP HIGHLIGHTS

FIRST OVERALL PICKS

Sabrina Ionescu, the Liberty's first overall selection in the 2020 WNBA Draft, will make her professional debut against former 2016 first overall selection, Breanna Stewart, and WNBA all-time assist leader Sue Bird. Stewart is returning to the Storm lineup for the first time since her MVP season in 2018 after suffering an Achilles injury. Ionescu, the NCAA leader in triple-doubles, and the first player, male or female, to record 2,000 points, 1,000 assists and 1,000 rebounds will likely match up against WNBA legend Sue Bird, the former 2002 first overall pick.

NEW YORK'S YOUTH MOVEMENT

The New York Liberty, who currently have a total of seven rookies, six of whom are active for opening day, have the youngest roster in the WNBA with an average of age of 24.12. The Seattle Storm currently have the league's most seasoned (oldest) average roster age with 29.

Walt Hopkins is also currently the youngest head coach in the league and franchise history at the age of 34.

SEATTLE IS READY FOR BATTLE

The Seattle Storm will be returning two of their perennial starters to the starting lineup in Breanna Stewart and Sue Bird. In 2019, with a short-handed roster, the Storm recorded an 18-16 finish which slotted them third in the Western Conference. Seattle advanced to the second round of the WNBA playoffs where they were eventually bested by the Los Angeles Sparks on September 15, 92-69.

MILESTONES TO WATCH FOR IN 2020

Amanda Zahui B - Approaching 100 WNBA career blocks. She finished the season with 92. Zahui also has 764 career points and 449 rebounds.

Kia Nurse - Currently sits at 775 total career points.

Layshia Clarendon- Approaching 200 career games played. They are currently at 198.

Kiah Stokes- Has 163 career blocks and is the franchise leader and single-game leader in blocks (8, vs. Connecticut 07/16/15)

Sabrina Ionescu - First ever triple-double in New York Liberty franchise history?

NEW YORK VS. SEATTLE STORYLINES

STORM AT BARCLAYS

Although the WNBA season will be played in a single-site format in Bradenton, Fla., the Seattle Storm was officially the Liberty's first and only WNBA opponent at the Barclays Center in Brooklyn. On August 11, 2019, New York played host to Seattle in the franchise's first regular-season game at the state-of-the-art arena. The Storm evened the 2019 season series, coming out on top by a score of 84-69.

HUSKY REUNION

Saturday's matchup will feature a total of five University of Connecticut alumnae (on the floor), several of whom who've played on Geno Auriemma at the same time. Megan Walker, although not active for opening day, rounds out this list for a total of six former UConn Huskies across both 2020 rosters.

Sue Bird '02, Kiah Stokes '15, Morgan Tuck '16, Breanna Stewart '16, Kia Nurse '18, Megan Walker '20

HOLMES' NEW HOME

Joyner Holmes, the most recent addition to the New York Liberty roster, was originally drafted by the Seattle Storm with the 19th overall selection in the 2020 WNBA Draft. Holmes was waived by the Storm on May 26 ahead of the league's roster finalization deadline, however, she later signed as a free agent with the Liberty on June 26.

EPIPHANNY PRINCE FACES HER OLD TEAM

Brooklyn-native, Epiphanny Prince, is suiting up for her first game against the New York Liberty since being traded from Chicago in February of 2015. Prince spent four total seasons in seafoam from 2015-2018, and currently sits fifth all-time in scoring average throughout her tenure in New York (11.67 PPG). In 2019, Prince signed with Bill Laimbeer's Las Vegas Aces where she played the final three games of the season, and three games in the playoffs.

On February 24, 2020, Epiphanny signed with Seattle Storm during the WNBA Free Agency period.

NEW COACHES

The head coaches of both teams, Walt Hopkins and Gary Kloppenburg, are making their respective debuts in their organizations to open up the 2020 WNBA season. Hopkins was hired by the Liberty on January 11, after spending three seasons as an assistant for the Minnesota Lynx where he was a part of the 2017 WNBA Championship staff. Kloppenburg, who has prior head coaching experience during with the Tulsa Shock and last year as an interim head coach with the Storm, will fill in for Dan Hughes for the 2020 single-site season.

FROM THE BIG APPLE TO THE SUNSHINE STATE

On June 15, 2020, the WNBA announced its plan to return to play for the 2020 season. The new, innovative format will feature a 22-game schedule followed by a traditional playoff format. The 12 teams, players, coaches and essential staff will take part in the single-site season, hosted by IMG Academy in Bradenton, Fla. This return to play announcement came after the league's indefinite postponement that began on April 3 in response to the global pandemic.

2020 STORYLINES

A NEW LOOK FOR THE FRANCHISE

Not only have the New York Liberty began to plant its roots in Brooklyn, but they will also have a new look doing it. On April 14, the organization released its new logo, signifying a new era in Liberty basketball. Prior to the release, the only logos to remained unchanged in professional basketball since 1996 were the Chicago Bulls, Los Angeles Sparks, Boston Celtics and New York Liberty.

A HISTORICAL 2020 WNBA DRAFT

For the first time in franchise history, New York held the No. 1 pick in the WNBA Draft. The team selected college basketball's most decorated player, Sabrina Ionescu. In trading Tina Charles, the team's franchise player of the last six seasons, New York acquired a franchise-record amount of draft picks in a three-team deal with the Washington Mystics and Dallas Wings. Going into draft night, the Liberty held the 1, 9, 12, 13, 15 and 26 picks.

After selecting Ionescu, the Liberty continued to win big in the 2020 WNBA Draft. In all, the Liberty snagged 4 of the top 12 draft picks, made six selections overall, and will open training camp with seven rookies on its 12-player roster. Joining Ionescu in New York's rookie revival are first-round selections Megan Walker (No. 9 pick), Jocelyn Willoughby (the No. 10 pick by Phoenix, who was then obtained by New York in a draft day trade), and Louisville's Jazmine Jones (No. 12). The Liberty also opens training camp with two rookies they snagged in the second-round - Kylee Shook (No. 13) and Leaonna Odom (No. 15) - and Joyner Holmes, the No. 19 pick by Seattle who was later waived and signed by the New York.

SABRINA IONESCU, FIRST OVERALL SELECTION

With its first-ever No.1 overall pick in the WNBA Draft, the New York Liberty selected Oregon guard, Sabrina Ionescu, on April 17. Ionescu will make the move from Eugene to Brooklyn after putting together one of the most decorated careers in college basketball history. The Walnut Creek, Calif. product finished her Oregon career with 2,562 points, 1,040 rebounds and 1,091 assists, making her the only player in NCAA history—male or female—with 2,000 points, 1,000 rebounds, and 1,000 assists.

HISTORY TO BE MADE

Through 23 seasons and 827 total games of franchise history, the New York Liberty has not seen a player record a triple-double. There have only been nine recorded throughout WNBA history, one of which occurred in the playoffs. Could Sabrina Ionescu, the NCAA all-time career leaders in triple-doubles with 26, be the first to do so for the Liberty?

WALT HOPKINS' HEAD COACHING DEBUT

First-year head coach, Walt Hopkins, will begin his journey not only with the New York Liberty, but also a WNBA head coach in 2020. Hopkins, who is the 8th coach in franchise history, will lead the Liberty into its new era after serving as an assistant coach for the Minnesota Lynx since 2017. During his three-year tenure with the Lynx, they made three-straight WNBA Playoff appearances, won the WNBA Championship in 2017, and had a combined overall record, including playoffs, of 69-43 (.616).

NEW BENCH

The Liberty will be under the direction of an entirely new coaching staff. Joining Hopkins is a strategic trio of assistant coaches who each bring unique skills and experiences to the Liberty. This includes 30-year coaching veteran Shelley Patterson, former WNBA champion and coach Kelly Raimon and player development specialist Dustin Gray.

2020 STORYLINES

NEW ERA, NEW YORK

While New York, one of only three remaining WNBA original teams, remains in search of its first championship, 2020 marks the beginning of a new era in Liberty history, one that will be highlighted by a new coach (Walt Hopkins), a new, potentially transcendent star (No. 1 overall draft pick Sabrina Ionescu), and a new logo/brand.

The Liberty were also set to move into a new home, The Barclays Center in Brooklyn, but that move will be put on hold as the entire WNBA convenes in Florida for the 2020 season. The new era actually tipped off last September when New York, after falling short of the playoffs for the second straight season, won the WNBA's Draft Lottery and the right to make the first selection in the 2020 draft.

LIBERTY FOR LIBERATION

New York Liberty players are no strangers to speaking out against injustice. In 2015, the team (Amanda Zahui B, Kiah Stokes, Rebecca Allen) staged a post-game media blackout and proclaimed that Black Lives Matter on their warm-up shirts in response to the killing of unarmed Black men and women at the hands of police. For the past four seasons, the team has created and activated a UNITY platform to provide solution based conversations around inequality.

This year is no different. The Liberty hosted a star-studded Juneteenth panel on freedom and the power of our vote featuring Breakfast Club host Angela Yee, Liberty guard and activist Layshia Clarendon, Nets swingman Garrett Temple, Grammy nominated artist Rapsody and social activist Topeka K Sam.

For Pride Month, the team activated virtually for a full week of events and celebrations with a focus on the intersectional experiences of the LGBTQIA+ community. With the league dedicating the 2020 season to social justice and Clarendon at the helm of the newly formed Social Justice Council, New York will continue in its fight for equality, freedom and justice.

ROSTER CHESS

Led by second-year general manager Jonathan Kolb, the Liberty's offseason involved a franchise reset highlighted by the addition of first-time head coach Walt Hopkins in January, the trade of franchise great Tina Charles to the Washington Mystics on April 15, and the selection of Sabrina Ionescu with the No. 1 overall pick.

SABRINA IONESCU. THAT'S THE TITLE.

The 2020 University of Oregon grad and commencement speaker was the NCAA's unanimous 2020 National Player of the Year and three-time Nancy Lieberman Award winner as nation's top point guard (2018-20). Ionescu is the NCAA's leader in career triple-doubles (26) and has a highly-decorated resume that also includes the 2020 Naismith Citizen Trophy, 2020 Associated Press Women's Basketball Player of the Year, Two-time Wade Trophy winner, Two-time Wooden Award winner, and Three-time Pac-12 Player of the Year.

UNCONVENTIONAL TIMES

Guards Rebecca Allen, Marine Johannés, forward Stephanie Talbot and center Han Xu will not join the team at the single-site at IMG Academy, due to the uncertain times currently facing the world.

2020 STORYLINES

STOKED TO BE BACK IN SEAFOAM

After missing the 2019 WNBA season, 6-3 center, Kiah Stokes, makes her return to the New York Liberty frontcourt. Drafted in the 1st Round of the 2015 WNBA Draft (11th overall), Stokes has averaged 20.8 minutes, 5.1 points, 6.1 rebounds and 1.3 blocks per game through four seasons with the Liberty. She also holds several franchise records including most blocks in Liberty history (163), blocks in a game (8), blocks in a season (67), the second-most rookie average rebounds per game (6.4), and is tied for the third-most rebounds in a single-game (17).

KIA NURSE, FROM ROOKIE TO VET IN A NEW YORK MINUTE

After a breakout second-season in 2019, where she ranked 16th in the league in points per game (13.6), as well as being named an AT&T WNBA All-Star starter, Kia Nurse quickly finds herself with the most experience in the Liberty's backcourt. Nurse, 24, made her WNBA debut just two short seasons ago, and will now be looked upon as a veteran presence on both sides of the ball for this young New York lineup.

This past March, Kia was named the WNBL MVP after she led the Canberra Capitals to the 2020 championship in Australia, while averaging 21.3 points per game plus 4.1 rebounds and 2.9 assists.

STYLE OF PLAY

Over the past few months, both Walt Hopkins and general manager Jonathan Kolb, have been interviewed at length regarding how the 2020 New York Liberty team will play. Stylistically, both of them share a vision for the Liberty that entails speed, versatility, efficient decision-making, high-percentage attempts, and stretching the floor with long-range shooting.

Throughout the draft process, Hopkins and Kolb addressed selecting prospects who are not only talented, but are also high-character people who possess a team-first mentality. They believe that they now have the right pieces in place to establish a winning culture that reintroduces the Liberty as contenders for years to come.

BEYOND THE ARC IN FLORIDA

With a long-list of skilled three-point shooters joining the Liberty, this offense will aim to stretch the floor and rank among the top W teams in all three-point related categories.

Kia Nurse, Amanda Zahui B, alongside rookies Megan Walker, Sabrina Ionescu, Jocelyn Willoughby, Jazmine Jones, Leaonna Odom and Kylee Shook will each add to the Liberty's long-range threat. Walker joins New York after ranking No. 8 in NCAA Division I three-point percentage during her final campaign at UConn, shooting 45.1% (78-173) in 2020.

FOUNTAIN OF YOUTH

The New York Liberty's average player age is currently 24.12 years old, which is the youngest in the WNBA. Between the young core of returners and the addition of seven rookies, the Liberty are poised to grow and develop as a cohesive unit.

2020 STORYLINES

WELCOME TO THE LIBERTY , LAYSHIA!

New York signed guard Layshia Clarendon at the start of the WNBA open free agency period. Clarendon, a seven-year WNBA veteran, was drafted 9th overall by the Indiana Fever in 2013 where she spent three seasons. The 5-9 guard then logged over two years in the Atlanta Dream's backcourt where she led the WNBA in assists in 2017. In the second-half of 2018, Layshia was traded to the Connecticut Sun where she spent the rest of the season, as well as 2019 where the Sun reached the WNBA Finals. Over the course of her career, Clarendon has averaged 6.9 points, 2.9 assists and 2.7 rebounds per game over 198 total regular-season contests, also seeing action in 21 playoff games.

Her valuable leadership is not limited to the hardwood, as Layshia is an active member and advocate for the LGBTQIA+ community, and continues to shed light on social issues in our society. She embodies the very meaning of #BrooklynLoud, and was one of the key figures in shaping the league's new collective bargaining agreement as First Vice President of the WNBA Player's Association. Clarendon is also a member of the recently formed WNBA Social Justice Council.

NEW YORK LIBERTY X FANDUEL

On April 9, 2020, The New York Liberty and FanDuel Group announced a partnership designating FanDuel as an "Official Partner" of the New York Liberty.

The deal, which marks the Liberty's first marquee partnership since 2018, includes marquee placement of the FanDuel logo on the team's home and away jerseys.

FanDuel Group was the first gaming company to offer an official one-day fantasy offering for the WNBA in 2017, which also marked the company's first partnership with a women's professional sports league.

A TRUE BROOKLYN FAMILY

With Joe Tsai now the total owner of both the New York Liberty and Brooklyn Nets, both teams are operating under one roof at Barclays Center and BSE Global.

In less than a year, there has already been great collaboration between the teams and front offices. The Nets have embraced the Liberty as a part of their family, and their talented roster of players are committed to supporting the Liberty's reemergence into the New York City professional basketball landscape. As the Notorious B.I.G said, "the sky's the limit," for the future of both organizations.

KICKIN' IT WITH KIA NURSE

In addition to her broadcasting work with TSN, Toronto's leading sports network, Kia Nurse has been actively building her future career within the sports media industry.

On April 29, 2020, the New York Liberty announced the start of a new, weekly Instagram Live series— "Kickin' It with Kia Nurse." The series featured conversations between Liberty All-Star guard, Kia Nurse, with current players, recent draftees, Liberty executives, and more!

The episodes received great engagement during the quarantine, and provided Liberty fans with a unique opportunity to get to know Kia Nurse and their other favorite players better.

2020 STORYLINES

HOME SWEET HOME

On October 17, 2019, the Liberty officially announced that the team will be moving full-time to the Barclays Center in Brooklyn, N.Y.

The Liberty enjoyed two games at the state-of-the-art arena in 2019, where they took on the Chinese National Team in the preseason, as well as the Seattle Storm on August 11 during the regular season.

Although the 2020 WNBA single-site season will be played in Bradenton, Fla., the organization is ready to make its full-time Brooklyn debut in 2021.

LUCKY NO. 7

2020 may be the year of 7's for the New York Liberty. Layshia Clarendon, who is sporting the No. 7 for the first time in her WNBA career, is also entering her 7th season in the league. The Liberty also have seven total rookies on the roster. In addition, the coaching staff has a total of seven WNBA championships combined between their coaching and playing careers

Shelley Patterson (Minnesota)- 4
Kelly Raimon (Phoenix, Detroit)- 2
Walt Hopkins (Minnesota)- 1

THERE'S ONLY ONE 'I' IN THE W

Random Fact: Sabrina Ionescu is the only active WNBA player with a last name starting with the letter 'I'.

LOUISVILLE OF THE NORTH

After selecting former Louisville guard, Asia Durr, second overall in the 2019 WNBA Draft, the Liberty continued to add more Cardinals to their roster in 2020. With the 12th and 13th overall picks, the Liberty drafted guard Jazmine Jones and forward Kylee Shook from U of L. Durr logged three years with both Jones and Shook, and all three players graduated as a part of the winningest class in program history at the end of their respective collegiate careers.

Jones, a 6-0 guard, totaled 1,178 points on 477 field goals (52.4%), 559 rebounds and 314 assists during her four years under head coach Jeff Walz. She finished as the program's all-time leader in games played with 144.

Shook, a 6-4 forward, totaled 948 points on 393 field goals (47.6%), 89 three-pointers (38.2%), 724 rebounds and 223 blocks over her four-year career. She was named the 2019-2020 ACC Defensive Player of the Year and finished her career as Louisville's all-time leader in blocked shots.

Asia Durr, will not be suiting up for the New York Liberty in 2020 as she was medically excused for this season. However, this Cardinal trio will be reunited in 2021.

QUOTE OF THE WEEK

Sabrina Ionescu on what drives her:

"Probably just having an underdog mentality. Always wanting to be better and do more. ... I want it to be what drives me to always not be satisfied with what's going on, always wanting to be better in every category and keep growing and working." -via New York Post

LIBERTY ROOKIE CORNER

Joyner Holmes

Holmes, originally drafted by the Seattle Storm 19th overall, signed with the Liberty on June 26. Holmes is one of two active Texas Longhorn alumnae in the WNBA, along with Ariel Atkins of the Washington Mystics.

Sabrina Ionescu

Ionescu, the Liberty's first-ever No. 1 overall selection will make her highly-anticipated debut against the Seattle Storm, starting at point guard.

Jazmine Jones

Jones will be making her professional debut in her home state of Florida, alongside her four-year teammate at Louisville, Kylee Shook.

Leaonna Odom

Odom will bring a tremendous amount of versatility and athleticism to the Liberty roster, able to play virtually any position one through five.

Kylee Shook

Shook, Louisville's all-time leader in blocked shots, will add a valuable presence to the Liberty's interior defense, along with Amanda Zahui B and Kiah Stokes, who owns the title of franchise leader in blocks. Her ability to stretch the floor with the three-pointer coincides perfectly with Walt Hopkins' new offense.

Megan Walker

After testing negative twice, which allowed her to travel to IMG, Walker is currently following league quarantine protocols and will join the team next week.

Jocelyn Willoughby

Willoughby's versatility to play both guard and forward, physicality, and defensive presence will make her an impactful addition from day one.

WALT HOPKINS

HEAD COACH | UNIVERSITY OF NEVADA-RENO

The 2020 WNBA season will be Walt Hopkins' first season as the New York Liberty's head coach, the youngest in franchise history at 34.

Prior to joining the Liberty, Hopkins served as an assistant coach for the Minnesota Lynx since 2017, where he helped accumulate a 63-39 record, three consecutive trips to the WNBA Playoffs and one WNBA Championship.

Hopkins has over a decade of experience as a basketball coach at the professional, collegiate, and high school levels. He specializes in: relationship building; providing nuanced individual skill development at every position, improving footwork and shot mechanics, creating and maintaining positive team culture via specific framing and communication strategies, and cultivating positive mindsets in players and coaches.

Prior to joining the Lynx staff, Hopkins served as Academic Coach at the University of California, Berkeley (2014-2016). He also served as the assistant women's basketball coach at Utah Valley University (2013-2014) and Director of Basketball Operations and Player Development Coach for the Tulsa Shock (2013).

Originally from Sparks, Nevada, Hopkins received his bachelor's degree at the University of Nevada-Reno. He also holds master's degrees from Harvard and UC Berkeley, where his studies focused primarily on applying findings from Social, Developmental and Educational Psychology to coaching settings.

GUARD

#7 LAYSHIA CLARENDON

SEVENTH SEASON | CALIFORNIA | SAN BERNADINO, CALIF. | 5-9 | BORN MAY 2, 1991 | 2019: 6.2 PPG, 2.4 RPG, 2.1 APG

New York signed guard Layshia Clarendon at the start of the WNBA free agency period. Clarendon, a seven-year WNBA veteran, was drafted 9th overall by the Indiana Fever in 2013 where she spent three seasons.

The 5-9 guard then logged over two years in the Atlanta Dream's backcourt where she led the WNBA in assists in 2017. In the second-half of 2018, Layshia was traded to the Connecticut Sun where she spent the rest of the season, as well as 2019 where the Sun reached the WNBA Finals. Over the course of her career, Clarendon has averaged 6.9 points, 2.9 assists and 2.7 rebounds per game over 198 total regular-season contests, also seeing action in 21 playoff games.

#20 SABRINA IONESCU

ROOKIE SEASON | OREGON '20 | WALNUT CREEK, CALIF. | 5-11 | BORN DECEMBER 6, 1997

Sabrina Ionescu was selected 1st overall in the 2020 WNBA Draft by the New York Liberty, which was the team's first overall selection in franchise history.

At Oregon, she amassed 2,562 points, 1,040 rebounds and 1,091 assists during her collegiate career, making her the only player in NCAA history—male or female—with 2,000 points, 1,000 rebounds, and 1,000 assists. In her senior season, Ionescu averaged 17.5 points, 9.1 assists and 8.6 rebounds per game. She also shot 45.5 percent from the field, 42.2 percent from three-point range, and 85.1 percent from the free-throw line during her career at Oregon.

She is the program's all-time leader in points, three-pointers, assists, triple-doubles and double-figure scoring games.

#5 KIA NURSE

THIRD SEASON | CONNECTICUT '18 | HAMILTON, CANADA | 6-0 | BORN FEB. 22, 1996 | 2019: 13.7 PPG, 2.5 RPG, 1.9 APG

Third-year guard and first time WNBA All-Star starter, Kia Nurse was the Liberty's second-leading scorer with 13.7 points per game.

In addition to being voted to start in the 2019 WNBA All Star game and scoring 15 points, Nurse was also selected to compete in the 3-point contest.

The Canadian guard had a career season in 2019 improving in nearly every statistical category since her rookie season. She is also the only New York Liberty player to start in each of the team's 34 games. She scored a season-high 26 points on three different occasions. On August 25, Nurse connected on a career-high six three-point shots against the Washington Mystics.

SIXTH SEASON | MINNESOTA '15 | STOCKHOLM, SWEDEN | 6-5 | BORN SEPTEMBER 8, 1993 | 2019: 8.6 PPG, 6.3 RPG, 1.3 BPG

New York center/forward Amanda Zahui B finished her 2019 season and fifth WNBA season averaging 8.6 points and 6.3 rebounds.

Despite leaving mid-season for overseas commitments and suffering from a concussion which caused her to miss several games, Zahui B started in 23 of the 24 games that she played in this season, averaging 23.2 minutes per game.

In her best performance of the season, the native of Sweden scored a career-high 37 points in the Liberty's road victory against the Los Angeles Sparks on June 15. Zahui B shot an impressive 13-16 from the field, 7-8 from beyond the arc and 4-4 from the charity stripe.
