NEW YORK LIBERTY GAME NOTES

As of 9/12...

In the Liberty's final matchup of the 2020 WNBA season, the team will take on the Dallas Wings, a team vying for the final playoffs spot. The league's two youngest teams will faceoff for the second time this season in a game originally set for August 27. All WNBA teams called off scheduled games August 26-27 for a day of reflection in response to the Kenosha, Wisconsin police shooting of Jacob Blake seven times in the back.

LIBERTY LAST TIME OUT

The Liberty (2-19) were outlasted by the Mystics (8-13) on Saturday afternoon, losing 75-58.

New York shot 38.2% (21-55) from the field and 37.5% (9-24) from beyond the arc on the afternoon. In the first half, New York shot 44% (11-25) from the field and 44% (4-9) from beyond the arc.

The Liberty had 35 rebounds, 16 assists and 12 bench points.

The Mystics shot 73 field goals on the day, while New York shot 55, one shy of tying their season-low.

With Kiah Stokes connecting on 5 three-point field goals, the Liberty have now seen 4 players record 5+ threes made in a game this season (Ionescu, Zahui B, Willoughby). This ties the WNBA record originally set by the Liberty in 2007.

WINGS LAST TIME OUT

The Dallas Wings (7-14) lost to the Chicago Sky (12-10) 95-88 Friday night.

The Wings fell despite Arike Ogunbowale's 38 points on a night when Dallas was down to just eight players due to injuries.

Marina Mabrey scored 11 and dishing out seven assists to go along with three steals and three rebounds.

Kayla Thornton added 11 points, six rebounds and three assists.

LAST MATCHUP

New York first met Dallas this season in its second game in Bradenton, falling 93-80 victory. The 13-point victory is the largest winning margin for the Wings this season. The first matchup against the Wings ties the league record for most rookies to play in a game with 10.

Sabrina Ionescu carried New York, scoring 33 points, 7 rebounds and 7 assists, one-point shy of the best single-game rookie performance in Liberty history.

The New York Liberty dominated the boards grabbing 44 while Dallas finished the game with 30 total rebounds.

New York shot 75.0% from the charity stripe (9-12).

NEW YORK VS. DALLAS STORYLINES

BATTLE FROM DEEP

New York and Dallas are match made in three-point heaven, as the two teams are ranked first (NY, 583) and second (DAL, 571), respectively in total 3PA this season. Dallas has connected on 187 threes this season, the most of any team, while New York is ranked 7th in that department with 164.

For context, New York finished last season ranked 8th in 3PA with 665 in a 34-game season.

STOKED FOR THREES

In the Liberty's last game against Washington on Saturday, Kiah Stokes scored a team and season-high 15 points, all of which came from beyond the arc. Stokes' 5 three-point field goals made is a career-best. Her final line, which included 5 rebounds and 3 blocks is the 15th time in WNBA history a player has recorded such a performance on top of 5 triples. She now joins teammate Amanda Zahui B as the 4th Liberty player on that list.

BABIES IN THE BUBBLE

The combined average age of the 12-woman rosters for Dallas and New York (minus Asia Durr) is 24.49 years. Including the first 2020 matchup, there have been five games in WNBA history in which the average age of all players from both teams who played at least one second was 24.5 years or less:

24.1983 years 07/12/2002 MIN 69 at DET 72
24.3242 years 08/02/2007 MIN 66 at NY 71
24.3515 years 07/01/2002 DET 80 at MIN 85 (OT)
24.3822 years 06/01/2007 NY 70 at MIN 60"

CUT THE TOs

The last time the two teams met, turnovers plagued the Liberty, as the team finished with 18 costing them 22 points in the contest. Last season, New York averaged 15 turnovers against Dallas. In the team's only 2019 victory over the Wings, they committed only 8 turnovers.

JAZMINE JONES DESERVES ALL-ROOKIE HONORS. PERIOD.

Jaz Jones has been showing up big for New York. In her first career start on Saturday, Jones totaled 8 points including 7 rebounds, 6 assists, 2 steals and 1 block. She is the first Liberty rookie and 11th rookie in league history to record at least 8 points, 7 boards, 2 steals and 1 block in a single-game.

The Louisville alumna is averaging 10.3 points, 3.9 rebounds, 2.2 assists and 1.5 steals per game, which ranks fourth in rookie scoring average. Jones also ranks 12th in the league in usage percentage at 26.2%, and is one of three rookies in the top 12 along with Chennedy Carter (1st, 30.8%) and Sabrina Ionescu (3rd, 3 games played, 29.4%).

If she keeps up her consistent play on both sides of the floor, she could see herself tabbed to the WNBA's All-Rookie Team, which would be the first time a Liberty rookie has garnered the honor since 2015 (Kiah Stokes and Brittany Boyd).

Additionally, if Jazmine stays above the 10.0 PPG mark coming off the bench each game this season, she will make WNBA history as only seven other players have done so since 1997.

WE GOT THE KEA

Paris Kea reentered the starting lineup on Thursday against Indiana, her former team and led Liberty scoring with a career-high 21 points on 44.4% (8-18) from the field and 42.9% (3-7) from beyond the arc. Kea currently ranks 11th in the WNBA in usage percentage at 26.2%.

NEW YORK VS. DALLAS STORYLINES

WHAT'S FREE?

With an average of 18.5 attempts per game, New York ranks eighth in the league in attempts and first in the league in free throw percentage, with an average of 82.8. The Liberty have not finished a regular season averaging more than 80% from the charity stripe since 2005 (81.9%).

LINEUP ADJUSTMENTS

Through the 2020 season, the New York Liberty have rolled out a total of 8 different starting lineup combinations. Injuries have played a large part in this; however, 9 different players have started for the Liberty this season.

NURSE JOINS THE 1K CLUB

Third-year guard Kia Nurse entered Thursday's contest against Indiana sitting at 986 total career points. Her 18-point performance helped her surpass the 1,000-point mark, making her the 221st player in league history to reach the milestone. Nurse reached 14 points at the 6:44 mark in the third quarter when she connected on a deep three-pointer.

LAYSHIA'S CAREER YEAR

Eighth-year veteran guard, Layshia Clarendon, has provided both leadership and consistency for this young Liberty lineup after undergoing ankle surgery in 2019.

Clarendon is averaging a career-high 11.5 points, 3.9 assists and 2.5 rebounds per contest, 13 of which they scored in double-digit figures.

BOARDS SECURED

The New York Liberty currently rank second in the WNBA in rebounds per game with 35.9 behind the frontcourt tandem of Amanda Zahui B and Kiah Stokes who are averaging 8.4 and 6.7 boards per contest. New York is also second overall in defensive rebounds per game with an average of 27.8 per game.

On September 5 against Phoenix, The Liberty had a season-high 53 rebounds, which is the most rebounds a team has grabbed in a single game this season. The team also grabbed 21 offensive rebounds, which is a WNBA season-high and tied the franchise record.

SHOOTERS SHOOT

Currently, the New York Liberty rank No. 1 overall in WNBA history with a three-point attempt rate of 42.1%. This stat is the ratio of field goal attempts from three divided by the total number of field goal attempts. Second to the Liberty are this year's Dallas Wings team with a rate of 38.2%, followed by the 2019 WNBA Champion Washington Mystics with a percentage of 36.4%.

NEW YORK'S DEFENSE

The Liberty's defense ranks amongst the top teams in the WNBA across multiple defensive categories. New York is currently second in defensive rebounds per game (27.8), second in blocks per game (4.3) and fourth in opponent fast break points per game (5.2).

JOCELYN'S BREAKOUT PERFORMANCE

Jocelyn Willoughby, the 10th overall selection in 2020 WNBA Draft, had a breakout game against the Los Angeles Sparks on September 8. In her fourth career start, Willoughby totaled a game and career-high 21 points, shooting 87.5% (7-8) from the field and a perfect 5-5 from beyond the arc.

Additionally, Jocelyn tied a team record for most three-pointers without missing a shot (5). This list includes Crystal Robinson (1999), Becky Hammon (2001, 04), Nicole Powell (2011), and Candice Wiggins (2015).

LIBERTY OWNERSHIP'S SOCIAL JUSTICE PLEDGE

On August 25, New York Liberty owners, Clara Wu Tsai and Joe Tsai, pledged $50 million over 10 years to support social justice and economic mobility initiatives that will benefit Black, Indigenous, and People of Color (BIPOC), with a priority focus on Brooklyn.

The plan includes establishing a social justice fund, supporting athlete voices, creating a more inclusive work culture, leveraging league-wide influence and ongoing community engagement. NEW YORK LIBERTY JOIN "UNITE THE VOTE" VOTER REGISTRATION CHALLENGE ORGANIZED BY WASHINGTON MYSTICS

The New York Liberty announced it will join eight fellow Women's National Basketball Association (WNBA) teams in launching, "Unite the Vote," an effort for each team to register as many voters as possible in the month between August 18 - September 18, 2020.

Please visit www.UniteTheVoteChallenge.com to learn more on the initiative, and www.whenweallvote.org/liberty/ to register.

AMANDA ZAHUI B'S BOOK CLUB

This season, Liberty center Amanda Zahui B created a virtual book club for 13 and 14-year-old girls from New Heights Youth Inc. to explore the work of Black authors. The group is currently reading "I Know Why The Caged Bird Sings" by Maya Angelou, and meets virtually on a bi-weekly basis.

New Heights Youth, Inc. is a non-profit sports-based youth development and education organization based in New York City.

NY LIBERTY X AFRICAN AMERICAN POLICY FORUM

To aid in the fight for Breonna Taylor and the several other black women victims of police violence, the New York Liberty donated $25,000 to the African American Policy Forum and the #SayHerName campaign. Launched in 2014, the #SayHerName campaign aims to "bring awareness to the often invisible names and stories of Black women and girls who have been victimized by racist police violence, and provides support to their families."

Please visit <https://aapf.org/sayhername> to learn more.

LIBERTY TEAM UP WITH LI NETS, ST. JOHN'S UNIVERSITY TO CREATE SPORTS LAW AND CIVIL RIGHTS PROGRAM FOR HIGH SCHOOLERS

In addition to the team's $25,000 donation to the African American Policy Forum and the #SayHerName campaign, the Liberty organization is also teaming up with the LI Nets and Ronald H. Brown Center for Civil Rights at St. John's University School of Law to create an inaugural program for high school students focused primarily on sports law and civil rights.

The two-week program began on August 3 with the goal of educating a group of 20 students from Long Island and New York City on both sports law and their civil rights. Lesson plans focus on the business-side of the sports industry, and identify the synergies between sports law, entertainment law, labor and employment law, trademark law, and social justice. At the end of the program, the students will participate in a mock trial/arbitration experience.

JUSTICE FOR BREONNA TAYLOR T-SHIRT CAMPAIGN

On August 10, the New York Liberty players, along with the rest of the WNBA, unveiled a new t-shirt during warmups from the Phenomenal Woman Action Campaign. The front of the shirt demands that the police officers who murdered Breonna Taylor be arrested, while the back of the shirt reads "Say Her Name," along with a portrait of Taylor.

All proceeds from sales will be donated to the Breonna Taylor Foundation. To purchase a t-shirt and read more on the campaign, please visit the hyperlink above.

A NEW LOOK FOR THE FRANCHISE

Not only have the New York Liberty began to plant its roots in Brooklyn, but they will also have a new look doing it. On April 14, the organization released its new logo, signifying a new era in Liberty basketball. Prior to the release, the only logos to remained unchanged in professional basketball since 1996 were the Chicago Bulls, Los Angeles Sparks, Boston Celtics and New York Liberty.

A HISTORICAL 2020 WNBA DRAFT

For the first time in franchise history, New York held the No. 1 pick in the WNBA Draft. The team selected college basketball's most decorated player, Sabrina Ionescu. In trading Tina Charles, the team's franchise player of the last six seasons, New York acquired a franchise-record amount of draft picks in a three-team deal with the Washington Mystics and Dallas Wings. Going into draft night, the Liberty held the 1, 9, 12, 13, 15 and 26 picks.

After selecting Ionescu, the Liberty continued to win big in the 2020 WNBA Draft. In all, the Liberty snagged 4 of the top 12 draft picks, made six selections overall, and will open training camp with seven rookies on its 12-player roster. Joining Ionescu in New York's rookie revival are first-round selections Megan Walker (No. 9 pick), Jocelyn Willoughby (the No. 10 pick by Phoenix, who was then obtained by New York in a draft day trade), and Louisville's Jazmine Jones (No. 12). The Liberty also opens training camp with two rookies they snagged in the second-round - Kylee Shook (No. 13) and Leaonna Odom (No. 15) - and Joyner Holmes, the No. 19 pick by Seattle who was later waived and signed by the New York.

SABRINA IONESCU, FIRST OVERALL SELECTION

With its first-ever No.1 overall pick in the WNBA Draft, the New York Liberty selected Oregon guard, Sabrina Ionescu, on April 17. Ionescu will make the move from Eugene to Brooklyn after putting together one of the most decorated careers in college basketball history. The Walnut Creek, Calif. product finished her Oregon career with 2,562 points, 1,040 rebounds and 1,091 assists, making her the only player in NCAA history—male or female—with 2,000 points, 1,000 rebounds, and 1,000 assists.

HISTORY TO BE MADE

Through 23 seasons and 827 total games of franchise history, the New York Liberty has not seen a player record a triple-double. There have only been nine recorded throughout WNBA history, one of which occurred in the playoffs. Could Sabrina Ionescu, the NCAA all-time career leaders in triple-doubles with 26, be the first to do so for the Liberty?

WALT HOPKINS' HEAD COACHING DEBUT

First-year head coach, Walt Hopkins, will begin his journey not only with the New York Liberty, but also a WNBA head coach in 2020. Hopkins, who is the 8th coach in franchise history, will lead the Liberty into its new era after serving as an assistant coach for the Minnesota Lynx since 2017. During his three-year tenure with the Lynx, they made three-straight WNBA Playoff appearances, won the WNBA Championship in 2017, and had a combined overall record, including playoffs, of 69-43 (.616).

NEW BENCH

The Liberty will be under the direction of an entirely new coaching staff. Joining Hopkins is a strategic trio of assistant coaches who each bring unique skills and experiences to the Liberty. This includes 30-year coaching veteran Shelley Patterson, former WNBA champion and coach Kelly Raimon and player development specialist Dustin Gray.

2020 STORYLINES

NEW ERA, NEW YORK

While New York, one of only three remaining WNBA original teams, remains in search of its first championship, 2020 marks the beginning of a new era in Liberty history, one that will be highlighted by a new coach (Walt Hopkins), a new, potentially transcendent star (No. 1 overall draft pick Sabrina Ionescu), and a new logo/brand.

The Liberty were also set to move into a new home, The Barclays Center in Brooklyn, but that move will be put on hold as the entire WNBA convenes in Florida for the 2020 season. The new era actually tipped off last September when New York, after falling short of the playoffs for the second straight season, won the WNBA's Draft Lottery and the right to make the first selection in the 2020 draft.

LIBERTY FOR LIBERATION

New York Liberty players are no strangers to speaking out against injustice. In 2015, the team (Amanda Zahui B, Kiah Stokes, Rebecca Allen) staged a post-game media blackout and proclaimed that Black Lives Matter on their warm-up shirts in response to the killing of unarmed Black men and women at the hands of police. For the past four seasons, the team has created and activated a UNITY platform to provide solution based conversations around inequality.

This year is no different. The Liberty hosted a star-studded Juneteenth panel on freedom and the power of our vote featuring Breakfast Club host Angela Yee, Liberty guard and activist Layshia Clarendon, Nets swingman Garrett Temple, Grammy nominated artist Rapsody and social activist Topeka K Sam.

For Pride Month, the team activated virtually for a full week of events and celebrations with a focus on the intersectional experiences of the LGBTQIA+ community. With the league dedicating the 2020 season to social justice and Clarendon at the helm of the newly formed Social Justice Council, New York will continue in its fight for equality, freedom and justice.

ROSTER CHESS

Led by second-year general manager Jonathan Kolb, the Liberty's offseason involved a franchise reset highlighted by the addition of first-time head coach Walt Hopkins in January, the trade of franchise great Tina Charles to the Washington Mystics on April 15, and the selection of Sabrina Ionescu with the No. 1 overall pick.

SABRINA IONESCU. THAT'S THE TITLE.

The 2020 University of Oregon grad and commencement speaker was the NCAA's unanimous 2020 National Player of the Year and three-time Nancy Lieberman Award winner as nation's top point guard (2018-20). Ionescu is the NCAA's leader in career triple-doubles (26) and has a highly-decorated resume that also includes the 2020 Naismith Citizen Trophy, 2020 Associated Press Women's Basketball Player of the Year, Two-time Wade Trophy winner, Two-time Wooden Award winner, and Three-time Pac-12 Player of the Year.

UNCONVENTIONAL TIMES

Guards Rebecca Allen, Marine Johannés, forward Stephanie Talbot and center Han Xu will not join the team at the single-site at IMG Academy, due to the uncertain times currently facing the world.

2020 STORYLINES

STOKED TO BE BACK IN SEAFOAM

After missing the 2019 WNBA season, 6-3 center, Kiah Stokes, makes her return to the New York Liberty frontcourt. Drafted in the 1st Round of the 2015 WNBA Draft (11th overall), Stokes has averaged 20.8 minutes, 5.1 points, 6.1 rebounds and 1.3 blocks per game through four seasons with the Liberty. She also holds several franchise records including most blocks in Liberty history (163), blocks in a game (8), blocks in a season (67), the second-most rookie average rebounds per game (6.4), and is tied for the third-most rebounds in a single-game (17).

KIA NURSE, FROM ROOKIE TO VET IN A NEW YORK MINUTE

After a breakout second-season in 2019, where she ranked 16th in the league in points per game (13.6), as well as being named an AT&T WNBA All-Star starter, Kia Nurse quickly finds herself with the most experience in the Liberty's backcourt. Nurse, 24, made her WNBA debut just two short seasons ago, and will now be looked upon as a veteran presence on both sides of the ball for this young New York lineup.

This past March, Kia was named the WNBL MVP after she led the Canberra Capitals to the 2020 championship in Australia, while averaging 21.3 points per game plus 4.1 rebounds and 2.9 assists.

STYLE OF PLAY

Over the past few months, both Walt Hopkins and general manager Jonathan Kolb, have been interviewed at length regarding how the 2020 New York Liberty team will play. Stylistically, both of them share a vision for the Liberty that entails speed, versatility, efficient decision-making, high-percentage attempts, and stretching the floor with long-range shooting.

Throughout the draft process, Hopkins and Kolb addressed selecting prospects who are not only talented, but are also high-character people who possess a team-first mentality. They believe that they now have the right pieces in place to establish a winning culture that reintroduces the Liberty as contenders for years to come.

FOUNTAIN OF YOUTH

The New York Liberty's average player age is currently 24.45 years old (without Asia Durr), which is the second- youngest in the WNBA. Between the young core of returners and the addition of seven rookies, the Liberty are poised to grow and develop as a cohesive unit.

WELCOME TO THE LIBERTY, LAYSHIA!

New York signed guard Layshia Clarendon at the start of the WNBA open free agency period. Clarendon, a seven-year WNBA veteran, was drafted 9th overall by the Indiana Fever in 2013 where they spent three seasons. The 5-9 guard then logged over two years in the Atlanta Dream's backcourt where she led the WNBA in assists in 2017. In the second-half of 2018, Layshia was traded to the Connecticut Sun where they spent the rest of the season, as well as 2019 where the Sun reached the WNBA Finals. Over the course of her career, Clarendon has averaged 6.9 points, 2.9 assists and 2.7 rebounds per game over 198 total regular-season contests, also seeing action in 21 playoff games.

Their valuable leadership is not limited to the hardwood, as Layshia is an active member and advocate for the LGBTQIA+ community, and continues to shed light on social issues in our society. They embody the very meaning of #LibertyLoud, and was one of the key figures in shaping the league's new collective bargaining agreement as First Vice President of the WNBA Player's Association. Clarendon is also a member of the recently formed WNBA Social Justice Council.

NEW YORK LIBERTY X FANDUEL

On April 9, 2020, The New York Liberty and FanDuel Group announced a partnership designating FanDuel as an “Official Partner” of the New York Liberty.

The deal, which marks the Liberty’s first marquee partnership since 2018, includes marquee placement of the FanDuel logo on the team’s home and away jerseys.

FanDuel Group was the first gaming company to offer an official one-day fantasy offering for the WNBA in 2017, which also marked the company’s first partnership with a women’s professional sports league.

THE THREE AMIGAS

Liberty veterans Kiah Stokes, Amanda Zahui B, as well as a “baby vet” Kia Nurse, are roommates in the IMG Villas inside the Wubble. The three players recently launched a new video segment, “The Lounge,” which will document their experience as roommates throughout the 2020 season, as well as their time in Florida. The segment is entirely produced and edited by the group, and can be found across the Liberty’s social channels.

KICKIN’ IT WITH KIA NURSE

In addition to her broadcasting work with TSN, Toronto’s leading sports network, Kia Nurse has been actively building her future career within the sports media industry.

On April 29, 2020, the New York Liberty announced the start of a new, weekly Instagram Live series— “Kickin’ It with Kia Nurse.” The series featured conversations between Liberty All-Star guard, Kia Nurse, with current players, recent draftees, Liberty executives, and more.

The episodes received great engagement during the quarantine, and provided Liberty fans with a unique opportunity to get to know Kia Nurse and their other favorite players better.

A TRUE BROOKLYN FAMILY

With Joe Tsai now the total owner of both the New York Liberty and Brooklyn Nets, both teams are operating under one roof at Barclays Center and BSE Global.

In less than a year, there has already been great collaboration between the teams and front offices. The Nets have embraced the Liberty as a part of their family, and their talented roster of players are committed to supporting the Liberty’s reemergence into the New York City professional basketball landscape. As the Notorious B.I.G said, “the sky’s the limit,” for the future of both organizations.

LUCKY NO. 7

2020 may be the year of 7’s for the New York Liberty. Layshia Clarendon, who is sporting the No. 7 for the first time in her WNBA career, is also entering her 7th season in the league. The Liberty also have seven total rookies on the roster. In addition, the coaching staff has a total of seven WNBA championships combined between their coaching and playing careers

Kelly Raimon (Phoenix, Detroit)- 2

THERE’S ONLY ONE ‘I’ IN THE W

Random Fact: Sabrina Ionescu is the only active WNBA player with a last name starting with the letter ‘I’.

LOUISVILLE OF THE NORTH

After selecting former Louisville guard, Asia Durr, second overall in the 2019 WNBA Draft, the Liberty continued to add more Cardinals to their roster in 2020. With the 12th and 13th overall picks, the Liberty drafted guard Jazmine Jones and forward Kylee Shook from U of L. Durr logged three years with both Jones and Shook, and all three players graduated as a part of the winningest class in program history at the end of their respective collegiate careers.

Jones, a 6-0 guard, totaled 1,178 points on 477 field goals (52.4%), 559 rebounds and 314 assists during her four years under head coach Jeff Walz. She finished as the program's all-time leader in games played with 144.

Shook, a 6-4 forward, totaled 948 points on 393 field goals (47.6%), 89 three-pointers (38.2%), 724 rebounds and 223 blocks over her four-year career. She was named the 2019-2020 ACC Defensive Player of the Year and finished her career as Louisville's all-time leader in blocked shots.

Asia Durr, will not be suiting up for the New York Liberty in 2020 as she was medically excused for this season. However, this Cardinal trio will be reunited in 2021.

QUOTE OF THE WEEK

“I think when we are able to hopefully get back into market, like what I think most people should be doing, it’s working with-in the community that you are already in. For me that community consists of where I am from, Canada and the community of Brooklyn where I spend the other half of my year... We are really fortunate because our owners are incredible. Joe Tsai and Clara Wu have done so many incredible things already to step up and be frontrunners on the help we need to create change and reform... While we all go overseas or whatever we do this offseason, it’s a matter of continuing to use our voices and our platforms ...”

-Kia Nurse on how to continue to raise awareness for social justice when the team leaves the bubble.
