STREAK SNAPPED

After starting out the season 3-0 at home, the Sky fell to the visiting Indiana Fever 69-76 in a contest not decided until the closing minutes. Erica Wheeler scored a new season-high 28 points and Candice Dupree picked up her third double-double of the season with 14 points and 10 rebounds for the Fever. The Sky were held to a season-low 25 rebounds in the contest, and look to total more against the second-ranked rebounding team, the Connecticut Sun.

THE WEEK AHEAD

After starting the 2019 season with a disappointing 1-2 record, the Chicago Sky are now in the midst of an impressive four-game winning streak and will look to extend it on Friday night with a rematch against the Indiana Fever. Following Friday night's contest, the Sky have less than 48 hours to prepare for a Sunday evening showdown against the Connecticut Sun. The Sky will then close out their home stand with a Wednesday morning tilt against the Washington Mystics before heading west for a three-game road trip.

FAMILIAR FOE

Just six days removed from the Sky's 70-64 victory on the road against the Indiana Fever, the two rivals will face off once again on Friday night, this time in the friendlier confines of Wintrust Arena. Allie Quigley led all players with 18 points, including four made three-point shots, and Courtney Vandersloot notched eight assists as she continued her masterclass in putting players in positions to score. Cheyenne Parker also made her presence felt on the glass, collecting 10 or more rebounds for a third time on the young season.

STRONG STARTS

As the first quarter of the 2019 WNBA season comes to a close, the Chicago Sky see themselves in sole possession of second place in the league-wide standings. In addition to their impressive start as a team, many individual players have made strong cases for All-Star Game consideration - Courtney Vandersloot leads the WNBA in assists with an astounding eight per game, Diamond DeShields currently ranks in the top 20 for points per game with 13.7, and Allie Quigley is tied for the second-best 3PT shooting percentage in the WNBA at an even 50%.

WELCOME COACH WADE

James Wade joins the Chicago Sky as General Manager and Head Coach after spending two seasons as an assistant coach with the Minnesota Lynx under head coach Cheryl Reeve, helping guide the team to a 2017 WNBA Championship title. Wade spent the 2013 WNBA offseason in Russia as an advance scout for UMMC Ekaterinburg, which won the FIBA EuroLeague Women championship that same year. The team won again in 2018 and 2019. Along with Wade, Assistant Coach Carla D. Morrow, Assistant Coach Bridget Pettis, Strength and Conditioning Coach / Operations Director Ann Crosby, and Player Development Coach Emre Vatansever will be the coaching staff for the Sky this season.

JAMES WADE - GENERAL MANAGER AND HEAD COACH

James Wade enters his first season as the GM & Head Coach for the Chicago Sky.

James Wade joins the Chicago Sky as General Manager and Head Coach after spending two seasons as an assistant coach with the Minnesota Lynx under head coach Cheryl Reeve, helping guide the team to a 2017 WNBA Championship title. A native of Memphis, Tenn., Wade played collegiately at Middle Tennessee, Chattanooga, and Kennesaw State, where he graduated in 1998. After college he spent nearly 13 years playing professionally across Europe (2001-2013), including in the United Kingdom, France, Russia, Spain, the Czech Republic and Belgium.

Wade's coaching career began in 2012 when he was tapped to joining Dan Hughes' coaching staff at the San Antonio Stars. By 2013, Wade was promoted to full-time assistant coach, a position he held for four seasons (2013-16). During his tenure in San Antonio, Wade coordinated the team's defense and led individual player development, game planning, video breakdown, and team development.

A dual citizen of France and the United States, Wade spent the 2013 WNBA offseason in Russia as an advance scout for UMMC Ekaterinburg, which won the FIBA EuroLeague Women championship that same year. The team won again in 2018 and 2019. Wade also served as an assistant coach for French team Basket Lattes Montpellier Agglomération (BLMA) for three seasons (2013-16), which went on to claim the national championship for the first time in club history.

Wade is married to former San Antonio guard and national team member Edwige Lawson-Wade. They have one son, James Wade III.

A member of Chicago's training camp roster, Macaulay competed in two preseason games with the Sky, contributing 12 points and two rebounds during the team's May 16 matchup against the Indiana Fever.

After graduating from Temple University in 2013, the 6-foot-4 undrafted rookie played professionally in Italy for Lavezzini Parma.

Her overseas performance earned her an invitation to participate in training camp with the Indiana Fever in 2014, appearing in four preseason competitions with the team before being waived. Macaulay attended training camp with the Connecticut Sun in 2016 and rejoined the Fever's training camp roster ahead of the 2017 season.

Macaulay most recently played in the Turkish Women's Basketball League for Galatasaray in Istanbul, where she is averaging 12.1 points, 7.3 rebounds, 1.1 assists, and 1.2 steals per game. A native of Staten Island, New York, Macaulay has played professionally in France, Poland, Greece, and South Korea, in addition to Turkey and Italy.
