GAME NOTES

A LOOK BACK: SKY HOME OPENERS

➢ The Sky is 9-5 all-time in season home openers including 6 of the last 7. The Sky has opened once in their history at home against the Sparks, losing 81-64 on 5/22/07 at the UIC Pavilion.

CHICAGO v. LOS ANGELES HISTORY

➢ Chicago has an all-time record of 8-24 (.250), the team's worst composite total against any current WNBA franchise (Sky was 3-12 (.200) against the Detroit Shock from 2006–2009 when the team moved to Tulsa, Oklahoma).

➢ Last season, the Sky was 1-2 against the Sparks, losing both games in L.A. and winning the lone game in Chicago. As a road team, the Sky is 3-12 (.200) against the Sparks.

SKY OVERTAKE ACES 88-86 IN SEASON OPENER

➢ Sky finished on with an 11-0 run to wipe out a 9-point Aces' lead with 4:29 remaining. During the final run, the Sky shot 4-8 while holding the Aces to 0-11 from the field and 3 turnovers.

➢ Chicago shut the Aces out from the 3-point line for the game limiting them to only 5 attempts. In last year's playoff game, the Aces hit 6 three pointers in their win. The last time the Sky shut out a team from the 3 point line was 9/3/15 against the Liberty in NY, a team also coached by Bill Laimbeer. In the team's 15 year history, this was the 5th time the Sky has shut out a team from the three point line.

➢ Courtney Vandersloot's 11 assists were the most she ever had in a season opener. Previous high was 8 last season at Minnesota. It was the 46th time in her career she reached double figures in assists.

➢ Azura Stevens had a strong start of her Sky career scoring 12 points (10 in the first quarter) on 5-8 shooting (including 2-3 from beyond the arc).

➢ Kahleah Copper continued her strong play against the Aces leading the team with 18 points (15 in the 2nd half). In last season's playoff loss to the Aces, Copper scored 16.

➢ Diamond DeShields did not start and played only 14:38 in the game (3:36 in 2nd half, none in the 4th quarter) limited by knee discomfort. DeShield's has never missed a game in her 3 year WNBA career.

› Gabby Williams contributed 14 points on 6-8 shooting and 7 rebounds in 25 minutes off the bench. In her last 4 WNBA games, Williams has shot 70.8% from the field (17 for 24) compared to her career 41.3% average in the prior 64 games.

› Gabby Williams contributed 14 points on 6-8 shooting and 7 rebounds in 25 minutes off the bench. In her last 4 WNBA games, Williams has shot 70.8% from the field (17 for 24) compared to her career 41.3% average in the prior 64 games.

2019 SKY SEASON RECAP

› Sky improved by 7 games over their 2018 finish (from 13 to 20 wins), tied for tops in the WNBA (with Indiana who also improved by 7 wins this season)

"What people need to understand is it has been 134 days since Breonna Taylor was killed in her sleep. OK? 134 days. It's been 57 days or 58 days since the Attorney General of Kentucky, Daniel Cameron, made a statement and said that they were going to wait for Louisville Metro Police Department to do an investigation. Now imagine if I or someone close to me were to take the life of someone, and then they say, 'OK, we're going to let you investigate it, and we're going to wait on you to investigate it.' That's not political. That's just justice and that's what we're looking for." JAMES WADE

"I'm extremely excited about Sky Takes Action because I can feel the genuine desire amongst my teammates to do something impactful. I know the social justice aspect of this season was a nonnegotiable for me and tons of players, so seeing how we can provide for others with the resources we have is making this all worthwhile!"

"I think the misinterpretation of the society that we're living in, especially in the USA is that this is a black problem. It isn't. This is a world problem. I mean, and one of the main issues is every time something goes wrong with the black community, it's our problem. That shouldn't be that way. I think this is a world problem. These are issues that affect a certain population, but I definitely think that everyone should be affected. But I think that it's getting twisted to say 'Hey, this is a black problem you guys, how are you going to solve it?' I think that's a bad way to look at it and I think we, all of us have to be involved in the solutions and we all have to be comfortable being uncomfortable." JAMES WADE

"I wanted to play and use this as an opportunity for us to all get together, especially our team individually and do something great for social justice and equality." ALLIE QUIGLEY

"There's so many things going on in the world that if you haven't had a shift in perspective just in 2020 alone, it's like you're not really paying attention." DIAMOND DESHIELDS

"These need to be shown, but they need to go beyond just awareness. It needs to go beyond the formatives and us as a team we all wanted something that felt personal and we're taking action." GABBY WILLIAMS

"We're all doing our part and doing what we can to make a difference." STEFANIE DOLSON

TEXAS A&M

BOUNCING BACK: The seven-year veteran arrives for her first season with the Sky after a career resurgence in 2019. Colson appeared in over 30 games for the first time in her career since 2016 and expects to be among the key vocal leaders in the locker room for Head Coach and General Manager James Wade.

A VETERAN VOICE: She is one of only five players on the Sky's roster to have played at least five seasons. While with the Las Vegas Aces in 2019, the Texas A&M product led/tied the team in assists twice and posted a career-high 17 points against the Washington Mystics on July 13.

INSPIRING CHANGE: Colson is also a member of the newly-formed WNBA Social Justice Council, where she and other players will help serve as representatives for helping create meaningful conversations about race, LGBTQ support, gun control, voting rights and other relevant social issues in the United States.

RUTGERS

A DURABLE OPTION: Over the course of her first four seasons in the WNBA, Copper has solidified herself as one of the most stable and consistent options off the bench for the Sky. She has appeared in 101 of a possible 102 games during her three years in Chicago, consistently playing the role of the defensive specialist. She also made her first regular season start since 2018 in the season opener against Las Vegas.

FEELING LUCKY?: The Philadelphia native reached double-figure scoring totals in seven of the 34 games she appeared in last season and chipped in for 16 points while shooting an impressive 75% from the floor in the Sky's second round playoff game against Las Vegas. She once again led the Sky inscoring (18 points) and was named the Magellan Corp Player of the Game against the Aces in the opener.

LEADING AT ALL COSTS: Despite the COVID-19 Pandemic, Copper is still looking to use her organization 2K Skills and Drills to help provide opportunities for young girls to play basketball in Philadelphia.

1 DIAMOND DESHIELDS G
TENNESSEE

GREAT EXPECTATIONS: DeShields enters her third season in the WNBA with a tremendous amount of hype surrounding her. She followed up an impressive rookie campaign in 2018 with making the WNBA All-Star team, winning the WNBA All-Star Sills Challenge and being named to the All-WNBA Second Team.

YOU GO WE GO: The former Tennessee Lady Volunteer led the Sky in scoring (16.2 ppg) and recorded her 1,000th career point during a career-high 30-point performance against Connecticut on September 6. In addition, DeShields led the Sky in scoring during both of the team's playoff games with 25 and 23 points respectfully.

31 STEFANIE DOLSON C

CONNECTICUT

A RETURN TO NORMALCY: After failing to play in at least 33 games for the first time in her career in 2018, Dolson responded in 2019 by starting and appearing in all 34 games. She continued to be one of the most efficient options on the floor for the Sky, as she finished fourth in the league in field goal percentage (51.9%). Dolson also made at least 30 three-point field goals for the second time in three years, shooting 36.1% from distance.

AN ACTIVE LEADER: Dolson will be working with the Brave Space Alliance, which is a black and trans-led organization that supports and educates the LGBTQ community, as part of her work toward social justice this season.

24 RUTHY HEBARD F

OREGON

DUCK DYNASTY: Hebard is one of two rookies on the Sky's roster this season. She joins the organization after being selected with the No. 8 overall pick in the 2020 WNBA Draft. A native of Fairbanks, Alaska, Hebard is one of three Oregon Ducks that will be making their professional debuts in 2020 (Sabrina Ionescu, Satou Sabally). Born in Chicago, she finished as the all-time leader in career field-goal percentage (65.1%) at Oregon and in the Pac-12 conference. Her 2,368 career points is second in program history, behind Ionescu.

THE WAIT IS OVER: Hebard made her official WNBA debut early in the second half during the opener against Las Vegas. She played just under seven and a half minutes, scoring four points and shooting 40% from the floor.

4 STELLA JOHNSON G

RIDER

'RIDING' IN WITH PLENTY OF MOMENTUM: Initially drafted by the Phoenix Mercury, Johnson signed as a rookie free agent with the Sky in June. She joins Chicago after posting one of the most decorated careers in Rider University history. The Denville, New Jersey native earned MAAC Player of the Year honors twice and became the first Bronc ever to be named an All-American. She also led the NCAA's Division-I in points per game as a senior (24.8). In addition to her offensive skillset, Johnson has regularly been praised for her defensive prowess and compared to the likes of former Sky player Jia Perkins.

7 JANTEL LAVENDER F

OHIO STATE

QUICK FACTS

Lavender's 2019 was cut short after having to repair a fracture in her foot through surgery. Unfortunately, she will miss the 2020 season due to the need for her to rehab from surgery which addressed a fifth metatarsal fracture in her left foot.

32 CHEYENNE PARKER F

MIDDLE TENNESSEE

A HUGE OPPORTUNITY: As she enters her sixth season, Parker is expected to have an extended role due to the absence of Jantel Lavender. She has been a reliable option off the bench for the Sky in each of the last two seasons, making in an appearance in all 34 games both years. In 2019, she averaged career-highs in minutes per game (19.7) and free throw percentage (84.2%) while reaching a double-digit scoring total on 12 occasions. The Middle Tennessee product scored a career-high 22 points against Connecticut on June 23, and with an expected increase in minutes will have plenty of opportunities to push that total even higher.

STARTING OFF STRONG: Parker finished with the second most min-utes played in the opener against Las Vegas (28:14), trailing only Courtney Vandersloot. The six-year veteran also chipped in for nine points while recording the second-highest plus-minus on the team as well (7).

14 ALLIE QUIGLEY G

DEPAUL

LIGHTING IT UP: The Chicago native continued to be one of the most prolific shooters in the WNBA last season as she led the league with 70 three-point field goals, becoming the first player in franchise history to lead the category. Quigley recorded a career-high in 3-point shooting percentage (44.2%) and earned her third consecutive WNBA All-Star nod. Despite being in her 11th season, she started and appeared in all 34 games for the first time in her career.

REPPING CHICAGO WELL: During the COVID-19 Pandemic she competed in the NBA Horse Challenge, defeating future NBA Hall of Famer Chris Paul. Quigley will be working with Chicago-based organization By the Hand as part of her work toward social justice this season.

SWEET REVENGE: Quigley drilled the eventual game-winning 3-point field goal over the Las Vegas Aces in the opener with just over 14 seconds to play in regulation.

30 AZURÁ STEVENS F–C

CONNECTICUT

NEW BEGINNINGS: Stevens joined the Sky after being traded from the Dallas Wings for Katie Lou Samuelson and a 2021 first round pick. She has reunited with Connecticut roommate/teammate Gabby Williams and is one of three former Huskies on the Sky's roster (Stefanie Dolson being the third). Stevens' 2019 was cut short after suffering from a foot injury but performed well in the nine games in which she appeared, including a season-high 10 points against Minnesota in the opener.

HOME COOKING: Stevens recently opened a food trailer with her father in her hometown of Raleigh, North Carolina during the COVID-19 Pandemic.

SETTLING IN: Stevens excelled in her debut with the Sky, scoring 12 points while shooting over 60% from the floor and drilling two 3-pointers as well.

22 COURTNEY VANDERSLOOT G

GONZAGA

KEEPING THE FOOT ON THE GAS: Vandersloot's 2019 was full of records. The 10-year veteran's 300 assist total was the most ever in a single-season for any WNBA player (breaking her own record of 258) and she also became the first player in league history to reach 300 assists in a season. Vandersloot won her third WNBA Peak Performer Award for assists, reaching a double-digit total in that category in 12 of the 33 games in which she appeared. She also made the WNBA All-Star game for the first time since her rookie season (2011) and was named to the All-WNBA First Team for the first time in her career.

OFF AND PASSING: Vandersloot's 2020 season started where she left off by leading the Sky in assists during the opener against Las Vegas with 11 helpers. It was the 46th time she reached a double-digit assist total in her career. Her apperance in the game also made her the franchise's all-time leader in seasons played (10).

15 GABBY WILLIAMS G

CONNECTICUT

AN IMMEDIATE CONTRIBUTOR: Over the course of her first two seasons in the league and with the Sky, Williams has played a key role off the bench. She has appeared in 77 of a possible 78 games while starting in 32. Williams' 14 points off the bench and stellar shooting percentage (6-8, 75%) helped propel the Sky to a victory over the Las Vegas Aces in the opener.

FAMILIAR FACES: She spent her offseason playing for Basket Lattes Montpellier Agglomeration, a club in France that is coached by Edwige Lawson-Wade, wife of Chicago Sky General Manager and Head Coach James Wade.

SOCIAL JUSTICE LEADER: Williams will be among the leaders for Sky's social justice campaign for this season, Sky for Change. The team will be donating $10 for every point and $100 for every win to Chicago-based organization By the Hand and other charities.
