NEWS AND NOTES

SKY FALLS TO STORM 89-71: The Sky scored a season-low 71 points against the Seattle Storm on Monday night. It was the first time this season Chicago did not eclipse an 80-point total (previous low of 81 against Minnesota on July 30). Despite the team's struggles offensively, the Sky still had five players post a double-digit scoring total: Quigley (13), Parker (12), Copper (11), Hebard (11), and Stevens (10).

TAKING CARE OF THE BALL: The Sky has committed more than 20 turnovers in each of the last 3 games. The last time a Sky team has done this was 7/13/12, 8/17/12 & 8/19/12 (games 1 and 2 of the streak broken up by WNBA Olympic break. In fact, the team ran off 5 straight games of 20 or more turnovers (also 7/6/12 and 7/7/12). Other than these 2 streaks, the Sky has never committed 20 turnovers in more than 2 games in a row in their history.

DIGGING A HOLE: In the last two Sky losses, opponents ran off large first quarter leads that the Sky were never able to overcome.

- vs. Phoenix on August 6, the Mercury went on a 24-2 run over the last 4:12 of the 1st quarter to take a 32-18 lead. The Sky fought back to cut the lead to 1 in the 3rd quarter, but ran out of gas.
- vs. Seattle on Aug. 10, the Storm outscored the Sky 30-11 over the last 7 minutes of the 1st quarter to take a 33-18 lead. They expanded the lead to 21 during the 3rd before the Sky cut it to 9 with 13-1 run, but again could get no closer.

ROOKIE RUTHY'S BREAKOUT PERFORMANCE: First-round draft pick Ruthy Hebard had a breakout game vs. Seattle on Monday night, scoring 11 points on 5-8 shooting and recording 5 rebounds. She went 4-4 from the field with 4 rebounds over 5:48 of the 3rd quarter. Hebard's 11 points and 5 rebounds were the most by a Sky rookie in a game since 2018.

SKY SCORING: The 71 points scored by the Sky against Seattle was their lowest output of the season and the lowest from a James Wade-coached Chicago team since June 21, 2019, 33 games ago.

- For Chicago's 5 wins, the Sky is averaging –
90.8 PPG 50.4 FG% 9.6 3PT FGM
- For their 3 losses, the Sky is averaging –

#51 SYDNEY COLSON GUARD TEXAS A & M

SYD IS FREE: Colson played just under five minutes in her season debut against Dallas on Aug. 4. She recorded her first points as a member of the Sky against Phoenix on Aug. 6. The veteran guard has donated $40 (4 points) to #SkyTakesAction this season.

INSPIRING CHANGE: Colson is a member of the newly-formed WNBA Social Justice Council, where she and other players will help serve as representatives for helping create meaningful conversations about race, LGBTQ support, gun control, voting rights and other relevant social issues in the United States.

COLSON ON THE SOCIAL JUSTICE COUNCIL

"That fueled me to want to even come into the bubble because I knew that the WNBA, the Players Association, would be giving us an opportunity to make our voices be heard and to let us speak on an issue that affects us, and affect our intersectionality. So, it's been big. I can't wait to actually meet the council and be around the rest of the league. I think that people will enjoy and learn from a lot of the things that we'll present to everyone. It's an awesome opportunity and I hope that people will help us amplify our message and people feel like they are gaining something from it and then that they take action and change things in their lives and in the lives of their family and friends."

#1 DIAMOND DESHIELDS GUARD TENNESSEE

TAKING ACTION: DeShields joins teammate Gabby Williams as serving as the face and leader of the Sky's #SkyTakesAction campaign for this season. She and Williams worked alongside former Chicago Bears linebacker Sam Acho to develop the campaign in partnership with Athletes for Justice. Through her scoring so far, DeShields has contributed $610 (61 points). She had a season-high 14 points against Connecticut on August 8 and has reached a double-digit scoring total in two of her last five games.

DeShields on how #SkyTakesAction has motivated her: "It's everything. It's literally the reason why I put my jersey, it's the reason why I came out here. There was no way I was going to come out here and just dismiss myself from what's going on in the world right now. So, to have partnered up with Athletes For Justice and my teammates and everybody else, our sponsors to be on board with this, it's all the motivation that any of us needs on game days."

She will serve as the team's official color commenter on WCIU throughout the course of this season alongside veteran play-by-play broadcaster Lisa Byington.

Lavender on joining the broadcast team:

"To say I'm thrilled would be a lie- I'd rather be playing, but I am blessed and extremely grateful for the opportunity," Lavender said. "I wouldn't want to cover any other team but the Sky. For that I am thrilled! Sky is the limit."

AN EMERGING STAR: Parker has contributed $1,090 (109 points) to the #SkyTakesAction campaign this season. She leads the team in total rebounds (47) and her 15 offensive boards is the most on the Sky this season as well.

Parker on the shirt she was wearing during her postgame media availability on 8/8:

"It says arrest the cops who killed Breonna Taylor. Stef[anie] [Dolson] passed these out to the team after we watched film and said we're going to wear these shirts today. It has a picture of her [Taylor] in the back, [you] probably can't really see it. But she's [Taylor], a young lady that we're representing this year and she's on the back of everyone's jersey and it's a really unfortunate story. But I think the more people see it, the more we can try to get some justice for her."

#30 AZURÁ STEVENS FORWARD-CENTER CONNECTICUT

On #SkyTakesAction-Stevens has donated $930 (93 points) this season.

"When they did the 26 seconds for Breonna Taylor before the game I took a minute just to talk to myself like, 'I'm going to go out here and just play as hard as I can for that.' It's just crazy still that honestly like that happened and these cops haven't been arrested and people are just walking around like that's OK. And so I'm praying and hoping that they finally get the justice that they deserve. But yeah, I mean I think it motivates especially our team a little bit more because we're dedicating a season just to raise awareness and to make actual change. I don't know, like we've been talking about this for a long time before we even came here. Personal experiences we've all had just with racism and social injustice. And so, I mean it motivates me definitely a little bit extra because like that could have been my dad. George Floyd could've been my dad. Breonna Taylor could have been my sister. It could have been me. It could have been some of my teammates, like it's just this is real life right now, and it's a lot to take in but I mean I'm proud of our team for the awareness that we're raising and the stuff that we're doing."

#15 GABBY WILLIAMS GUARD CONNECTICUT

SOCIAL JUSTICE LEADER: Williams has contributed $730 (73 points) this season to the #SkyTakesAction campaign. She and guard Diamond DeShields were at the forefront of creating the program. Tuesday's game against Seattle was the first time this season where Williams did not play at least 20 minutes.

"It's traumatizing. It's exhausting. To see people who look like you, people who do the same things as you, be murdered in cold blood, and then people turn back and tell you that your life just doesn't matter. Or they try to distract you and say, 'all lives matter,' or whatever it is ... The fact that we have to fight to exist is exhausting And we're just exhausted. And we're sick and tired of it. We're tired of seeing images of people who look like us, who look like our brothers - who look like my little brother! I worry about everything that he does! So it's not hard for it to not distract me from basketball, because I'm a person before I'm a basketball player. And that's how we all feel."
