ATLANTA DREAM HAVE SOLD OUT 2024 SEASON, SET RECORDS

- ATLANTA JOURNAL-CONSTITUTION

The Atlanta Dream have sold out their season ticket allotment for the upcoming season, the WNBA team announced Monday. The team also announced it set record sales for single game tickets in a limited presale.

According to the team, the Dream are the second team in WNBA history to sell out their season ticket allotment. The defending champion Las Vegas Aces are the other team.

Single-game tickets for the remaining games will go on sale to the general public on Thursday at 8 a.m.

Games against the Indiana Fever, Chicago Sky and Aces have already sold out. The Dream play each of those teams twice at home at the Gateway Center. Other games are expected to sell out when single game tickets go on sale. The Dream are looking for ways to add temporary seating at the Gateway Center for sold-out games.

“After making the playoffs for the first time in five years last season, our fans have carried that momentum into 2024,” Dream President and COO Morgan Shaw Parker said in a statement. “Excitement around women’s sports, particularly basketball, is at an all-time high and nowhere is that felt more than here in Atlanta. We’ve continued a record-setting growth trajectory over the past three years under new ownership — both on and off the court — and 2024 is shaping up to be our best season yet.”

With season tickets sold out for the 2024 season, the Dream also announced their first-ever season ticket waiting list for those who want to be first in line when season tickets become available. Fans interested in joining the Dream Elite Priority List can sign up starting at 10 a.m. on Tuesday.

Limited partial season packages and group tickets are still currently available and on sale now. All ticket information is available on www.atlantadream.com or directly on the ticket page at: dream.wnba.com/tickets.

NOTES AND STORYLINES

Charles One of One, Continues to break history

Tina Charles put on a dominant performance against Seattle on August 28, marking a historic day for both herself and the Dream. With 19 points, 17 rebounds and 10 assists, she became the first player in franchise history to record a triple double with the first of her career, cementing her name as only the 18th WNBA player to ever record a triple double.

"I just give glory to God," Charles said postgame. "Where I was last year, where I am now, back in the WNBA. I just thank my Lord and Savior Jesus Christ. I'm just very thankful. I wish we came out with the win, but at this age in my career, I'm just taken aback. Very emotional about it, but it's just God."

She became the first player in WNBA history to record 15+ points, 15+ rebounds, 10+ assists and 4+ steals in a single game. The center also marked her 13th double-double of the season in the third quarter, passing Dream great Érika de Souza's 2009 season (12) for fourth in Dream history for most double-doubles in a season. de Souza also owns both the No. 1 & No. 2 spots.

Charles' 17 rebounds were a league-high for the night (8/28), as she tied her season-high in a game for rebounds, tied her career-high in assists and tied her season-high in a game with four steals.

Dream stay undefeated in return from Olympic Break with 72-63 win over Phoenix

Powered by another dominant second half performance, the Dream continued its undefeated streak since returning from the Olympic Break with a 72-63 victory over the Phoenix Mercury at Gateway Center.

Atlanta's record improves to 10-17 overall and 6-8 at home.

Allisha Gray went for a team-high of 21 points, with two assists and three rebounds. She shot 6-for-14 from the field and 3-for-8 from 3-point range. Rhyné Howard followed with 19 points, three assists, two rebounds and one steal. The guard surpassed 1,500 career points to become one of seven players in Dream franchise history to reach the milestone.

Tina Charles advanced to No. 2 on the WNBA's All-Time Scoring List, passing Tina Thompson with a three-pointer in the fourth quarter. The center marked her eleventh double-double of the season with 12 points and season-high 17 rebounds in addition to the legendary milestone.

The Dream offense wasted no time finding its momentum as the game began, going on a 17-4 run while holding Phoenix scoreless for almost six full minutes in the first. Atlanta's defense limited the visitors to shooting just 13.3% from the field, resulting in a new season-low in points scored for a quarter by Phoenix.

After a Phoenix run, Atlanta rallied to score 10 of the 11 final points in the second quarter, fueled by Gray and Howard who produced 14 of the 15 Dream points in the second. Going into the second half, the Dream held onto its lead, 34-26.

Charles ignited the fourth quarter by hitting the All-time milestone just seconds into the final stanza. Immediately after the Dream surged onto a 11-0 run that then swelled into a 21-4 run.

Tina Charles Moves to Second on WNBA All-Time Scoring List

Atlanta Dream center Tina Charles moved to second place on the WNBA's All-Time Leading Scoring list during Wednesday's game against the Phoenix Mercury. Charles passed forward Tina Thompson with a three-pointer in the fourth quarter.

A 12-year member of the league, Charles joined the Dream as a free agent in February, and the first overall pick in the 2010 WNBA Draft has continued to add to her storied career. Thompson previously held the second spot on the table with 7,488 points, but Charles eclipsed that total in 417 games, outpacing Thompson by 79 games.

"Tina's game is truly timeless," said Atlanta Dream General Manager Dan Padover. "Having witnessed over 3500 of Tina's points firsthand what has always impressed me most is her consistency. From the moment she stepped into the league in 2010, Tina has been the ultimate competitor, pushing to give everything she had night in and night out. Tina is obviously a once in a WNBA history talent but her ability to show up in every single game she played in is why she is reaching this historic WNBA milestone"

During her 2024 campaign, Charles averages 14 points, 8.4 rebounds per game and recorded 10 double-doubles on the season. Starting all 26 games this season, Charles has scored in double-digits in 20 games, leading the Dream in scoring on six occasions. On Aug. 16, Charles recorded her 3,000th career field goal against the Seattle Storm, where she scored a game-winning shot to cap off a 16-point performance.

Charles tallied her nearly 7,500 points with stops in Connecticut, New York, Phoenix, Seattle and Washington. She has scored more than 30 points in 23 games during her career, and she ranks second all-time with 78 games scoring 25 or more points. She trails only Diana Taurasi (10,497, 553 games) on the All-Time Scoring list.

The 2012 WNBA Most Valuable Player has received nine All-WNBA Selections, including five First-Team nominations. An eight-time WNBA All-Star, Charles was named to four All-Defensive Teams and three US Olympic Teams where she earned gold medals in 2012, 2016 and 2021. Charles was unanimously selected as the 2010 WNBA Rookie of the Year.

Canada drops season-high as Atlanta Dream defeat Connecticut Sun 82-70

The Atlanta Dream defeated the Connecticut Sun 82-70, picking up its second-straight win since returning from the Olympic Break.

Paced by guard Jordin Canada's season-high of 19 points, six steals, six assists and four rebounds, the Dream were able to improve to 9-17 overall and 5-8 at home.

The Dream held onto its lead throughout the third after never trailing in the first half, powered by eight points from Canada and five from Charles.

NOTES AND STORYLINES

Connecticut trimmed the Dream lead down to one point with four minutes left to play in the third, but the Dream responded with three consecutive 3-pointers, two by Canada and one by Charles. The duo produced all the Dream offense in the final minutes of the third quarter to give the Dream a 7-point lead going into the final quarter.

After the Sun reclaimed the lead 63-68, the Dream burst onto a 19-2 run jump started with a Gray and-one, and Gray went on to score seven of her 11 points in the fourth quarter alone.

The Dream were able to push its lead to six points with under a minute to go, and the team shot 10-for-11 from the free throw line to end the Sun's hopes of coming back.

Dream weather the Storm in 83-81 win over Seattle

The Atlanta Dream opened the second-half of the 2024 season with a 83-81 win over the Seattle Storm, powered by Rhyne Howard's 30-point performance. The guard finished with 30 points, eight rebounds, two blocks, two steals and two assists in her first action since winning the Bronze medal with Team USA's 3x3 women's basketball team at the Paris Olympics.

The Dream's record improves to 8-17 overall and 4-8 at home.

Trailing by double-digits going into the second half, Howard put up 14 points in the third quarter alone to jump-start a Dream comeback that saw the group go on a 15-6 run in the third quarter and a 21-9 run in the fourth quarter.

Allisha Gray and Jordin Canada combined for 17 of the Dream's 28 fourth-quarter points to preserve the Atlanta lead in the final stretch. With under 30 seconds left to play, the guards each went 2-for-2 at the free throw line.

Seattle's Jewell Lloyd responded with a 27-foot 3-pointer to tie the game at 81-81 with four seconds left to play.

With 1.8 seconds remaining, Canada found Charles in sideline out-of-bounds action. The center then sank the game-winning field goal with a jumper on the block as the clock ran out.

Rhyne Howard wins Bronze at 2024 Paris Olympic Games

Rhyne Howard and the USA Basketball 3x3 Women's National Team clinched the bronze medal at the 2024 Paris Olympic Games, defeating Canada 16-13.

"It's just great," Howard said postgame. "To be able to put on for a city that loves you so much. I know that they're proud regardless of the outcome that we have and being able to get this here and go back to them, to that fanbase, to Atlanta, it's great. It's a great feeling. And I know I'm going to be super happy when I get home."

Totalling four points, one rebound, and one assist, Howard became the first Dream player to reach the Olympic podium since Angel McCoughtry in 2016. Howard is now one of three players on the current Dream roster to win an Olympic medal, joining both Allisha Gray and Tina Charles.

Rhyne Howard Wants to Uphold the Gold Standard

By Hayden Cilley, USA Basketball

If you asked first-time Olympian Rhyne Howard whether she wanted to play for USA Basketball's 3x3 Women's National Team or 5x5 Women's National Team, she would say there was no preference on what team she ended up on.

"I just wanted to go and compete and be able to say I'm an Olympian," Howard said. "3x3 is really fun. We were only on the first day, but you can tell that there's already chemistry with us, really intimate and it's something that not everybody gets to say that they can do. Just being able to have this so early in my career is a blessing."

Now in her third year in the WNBA, Howard's career has been nothing short of impressive, both professionally and internationally with USA Basketball. With the 2024 USA Women's Olympic Qualifying Tournament Team, Howard averaged a team-best 19.5 points, along with 4.5 rebounds and 1.5 steals in 16.5 minutes per game.

Howard shines in Inagural WNBA All-Star 3x3 exhibition

Rhyne Howard was also stood out for the Dream in Friday's All-Star events, in the first-ever WNBA All-Star 3x3 exhibition. Howard was dominant in Team USA's win, scoring 12 of the group's 19 points. Team USA was victorious in the exhibition match, winning 19-16.

"Shooter's shoot," Howard told ESPN after the match. "So that's never going to go away, but just being able to come back from an injury like I have, it says something about my work ethic."

Allisha Gray becomes first-ever player to win both WNBA Kia Skills Challenge and Starry 3-Point Contest

Atlanta Dream guard and two-time WNBA All-Star Allisha Gray became the first player in WNBA history to win both the WNBA Kia Skills Challenge and Starry 3-Point Contest in the same night at WNBA All-Star weekend.

"The competitor in me wanted [Jonquel Jones] to miss of course," Gray told ESPN after her victory in the 3-Point Contest. "But the person in me, I like to see other people be successful as well, so with her winning I'd still be just as happy." The guard also becomes the first Dream player to win a WNBA All-Star event in franchise history.

Gray first participated against Sophie Cunningham, Brittney Griner, Marina Mabrey and Kelsey Mitchell in the Kia Skills Challenge. Gray and Cunningham advanced to the final round after finishing the first round with a time of 31.2 and 35.5 seconds, respectively.

Gray, winning with a time of 32.1 seconds, beat out Cunningham's time of 34.5 seconds in the final round to become the 2024 champion.

NOTES AND STORYLINES

"I started so fast, so it gave me a little padding on the end," Gray told ESPN. "It was all a part of the strategy, because I knew the second time around I would be a little fatigued from the shots, so I had to make my passes accurate."

Soon after, Gray took on Stefanie Dolson, Jonquel Jones, Marina Mabrey and Kayla McBride in the STARRY® 3-Point Contest.

Gray opened the first round with a score of 23, going 3-for-5 from the money ball rack. Jones finished with a score of 26, and both advanced to the final round. Gray went first in the final round, where she went 3-for-5 again from the money ball rack to finish with a final score of 22. Jones fell just one shot short of Gray with a score of 21.

Meet Allisha Gray, The WNBA's Southern Superstar

By Toby Adeyemi, ESSENCE

On a weekend when all the stars of the WNBA descended on Phoenix, none shined brighter than Georgia's finest, Allisha Gray.

Gray was named an All-Star for the second consecutive year, an honor that's become regular since she was traded to the Atlanta Dream two seasons ago. When Gray received the news, she was ecstatic. "I was playing video games when I first got the call that Dallas was trading me to Atlanta, but I just remember being super happy," she tells ESSENCE.

That joy was for good reason, because Gray was finally going home—well as close to home as possible. She grew up in Sandersville, a small town in Washington County located about two hours south of Atlanta. The opportunity to play in front of her friends and family was the thing Gray was looking forward to the most.

"Playing in my home state has been a blessing," she explained. "I get to see my parents every home game. That's super exciting because I didn't have that opportunity in Texas."

All-Star Allisha Gray has found freedom and joy with the Atlanta Dream

By Wilton Jackson, The Next

ATLANTA — Allisha Gray never stops moving. Even as Atlanta Dream head coach Tanisha Wright breaks down an intricate set for a screen and the roles of each wing cutter at the top of the key, the 6' guard is already mentally scheming the movements to her spot. The veteran hopes to aid the Dream (7-17) in a game against the Las Vegas Aces that evening.

Gray's energy and passion won't allow her to be still. Those two catalysts sit at the core of her basketball DNA, along with her rich Southern accent. "The first time I met her, I said, 'Girl, you are from the country,'" Dream guard Haley Jones told The Next.

At the right wing, Gray — donning clear protective goggles — puts the play in motion. She sets a back screen near the right elbow and cuts to the opposite elbow to field a pass from Jones. In a blink, Gray dribbles once to her left before leaping to finish the left-handed layup.

Allisha Gray Named 2024 WNBA All-Star

Atlanta Dream guard Allisha Gray has been named an AT&T 2024 WNBA All-Star for the second time in her career, the league announced today.

Gray is only the fifth player in Atlanta Dream history to earn multiple WNBA All-Star selections. The 6-foot standout guard joined the Dream before the 2023 season and has now become an All-Star in both her years in the franchise. Her bid marks the franchise's fourth straight year with an All-Star.

This season, Gray is leading Atlanta with 15.6 points per game while shooting 40% from the 3-point line. Last week, Gray eclipsed 3,000 career points, becoming only the 86th player in WNBA history to achieve the milestone.

She became only the second player in WNBA history with at least six 3-pointers and six free throws made while shooting 85% from the three and 100% from the free throw line.

She was first tabbed as an All-Star in 2023 as a reserve for Team Wilson. She went 4-for-10 from the field to finish with 10 points, two rebounds and one steal off the bench. She also participated alongside teammate Cheyenne Parker-Tyus to represent the Dream in the Skills

Atlanta Dream Head Coach Tanisha Wright will serve as a scout for the 2024 USA Basketball Women's National Team at the 2024 Paris Olympic games, USA Basketball announced today.

"This is something as an athlete and now a coach you dream of your entire career," Wright said. "I'm excited to go and learn from some of the best athletes and coaches in the world and represent my country at the highest level."

Wright becomes the first Atlanta Dream head coach to represent USA Basketball in over a decade. Inaugural Dream Head Coach Marynell Meadows (2008-2012) was the first to do so, having served as an assistant in the 2012 London Olympic Games under Geno Auriemma.

The team announced that it had sold out its season ticket allotment for the upcoming season and had broken its record for single-game tickets in its limited presale.

"After making the playoffs for the first time in five years last season, our fans have carried that momentum into 2024. "Tina is a former MVP and Gold Medalist with a ton of 'big game' experience that I know will aid us throughout the course of the WNBA season."

"Aerial is one of the most explosive wings in the WNBA and is capable of scoring in a variety of ways," Padover said.

Nia Coffey will continue her journey in her third consecutive year with Atlanta after starting 31 games last season and shooting a career-high 40.2% from three in 2023.
